STOP THAT COUGHING

SOME OF YOU CAN'T, AND WE PITY YOU. You have tried every remedy but the ONE destined, by its intrinsic merit, to supersede all other preparations. NEWELL'S Pulmonary Syrup is really the VERY BEST remedy ever compounded for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Asthma, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Consumption. Thousands of people in California and Oregon have been already benefited by the surprising curative powers

NEWELL'S Pulmonary Syrup

WASHINGTON, July 8.—In the House a number of bills were introduced, including a bill to repeal the bankrupt law, one abolishing national banks and redeeming bills with legal tenders, also a resolution by Brooks denouncing the execution of prisoners of war, and directing the committee to report a bill repealing so much of the neutrality laws as forbid organization in the United States for emigration to other countries to effect the settlement of Mexico.

Wood introduced a resolution of inquiry as to what action should be taken in view of the forcible abduction of Santa Anna from an American vessel, and whether treaties and the law of nations had not been so violated as to demand summary action on the part of this Government.

Ashley offered a constitutional amendment providing that all persons hereafter naturalized must be able to read and write also that no person can hold office, civil or military, who was a member of any convention which passed the act of secession or held a commission above the rank of captain in the rebel army.

On motion of Banks the President was requested to furnish information relative to the execution of Maximilian and Santa Anna

Dawes made a report in cases of the Kentucky members making detailed allegation against their loyalty and respectability and declaring that no disloyal person be allowed a seat; but that disloyal constituencies or irregularity in elections should not prevent a person holding a certificate from taking a seat.

Logan offered a resolution directing the committee to inquire into the acts of disloyalty alleged against the Kentucky members, with power to send for persons and papers, but to sit during recess Adopted.

Butler offered a preamble and resolutions appointing a Special Committee of five to examine into the whole conspiracy, and granting an amnesty to any concerned who will reveal the whole plot. Butler, Sheldbarger, Julian, Ward and Randall were appointed on such committee. A motion of Blanck was passed calling for a full report.

A Cabinet meeting is now considering the reconstruction act.

Stevens has reported an explanatory reconstruction act, an abstract of which was previously sent, one section providing that no civil court shall have jurisdiction of any act, civil or criminal, of any district commander or any officer acting under his authority, in the discharge of duties under the act Several amendments were offered Wilson offered one providing a penalty of $5,000 for any person obstructing the execution of the act. Beilsmin offered one providing that the right of registration should not be affected by the executive pardon. Stevens proposed to move the previous question on the passage of the bill. Several Democrats appealed to Stevens to not deprive the minority of the right to discuss the bill. Brooks desired an opportunity to present a minority report. Stevens consented to allow the discussion to proceed with the understanding that he would ask a vote at half-past one. Noell, Chandler and Miller spoke against the bill.

Crane introduced a bill extending the provisions of the Homestead law to freedmen.

House adjourned.

Mexican News.

NEW YORK, July 8.—The Tribune's New Orleans special says Judge Jones, nephew of Walker, has been arrested for the murder of Stalker, and brought to this city. Sanders received a requisition from Gov. Fenton for Jones, who is charged with obtaining goods under false pretenses in New York. The requisition came too late.

San Luis Potosi papers contain the correspondence between Juarez and Maximilian. The first letter from Maximilian, dated May 13th, asking counsel, did not arrive in time. He refused to allow more time necessary for defence.

Juarez promptly replied that time would be allowed. The next is dated June 27. Maximilian says that a decree be issued, allowing the counsel to leave the City of Mexico, which was under seige; also, desiring personally to speak to Juarez upon grave affairs of very great importance to the country. Juarez granted the first request, but declined an interview. Everything hinging as to Maximilian's private affairs, however, Juarez declared should be done.

QUERETARO, July 10.—Additional details of the execution of Maximilian have been received. Thousands of people witnessed his death. There was hardly a dry eye among all Maximilian was self-possessed. He said he was first visited by a deputation from Mexico, coming with testimonials and offering him the government, which he refused. Subsequently the proposition was renewed. He replied, if he was convinced that a majority believed it to be to their interests to place him at the head of the government, he would consent. Another deputation brought additional testimonials, and upon the advice from powers of Europe, who told him no other course could be pursued, he accepted the call. He defended the right of the Court which tried him. The nations of the world had pledged their faith to him. He never would have come unless convinced it was for the good of Mexico. In conclusion, he hoped his blood would stop the effusion of blood in the country.

Miramon read from a paper Herald he was no traitor, but always opposed the Liberal principles; always had been against disorder; should die as he had lived, a conservative, leaving posterity to judge his acts He closed with the words, "Viva la Independencia; viva la Mexico!"

Mejia made no speech, but told bystanders he never had tried to make money. His only wealth consisted of forty cattle in the mountains. He asked that the merchants of Matamoras, to whom he owed considerable, would not persecute his wife for money, left them by the kindness of the Emperor.

Bluster

The meeting of Congress has thrown the Democratic fraternity into a sweat Since it has become apparent that Johnson and Stanberry will not be permitted to fill the civil offices of the South with such unmitigated scoundrels, ruffians and unrepentant rebels as Monroe, the New Orleans murderer, the Democratic oracles are already beginning to mutter of another possible revolution Democrats are now told by the men who do their thinking, that the limit of Democratic endurance is almost reached. If the ballot box fail to hurl the Radical "usurpers" and "destructives" from power and to hoist the Democratic constitution-lovers into the offices, then the knife, the sword and several other instruments with ugly and bloody-sounding names, are suggested as possible remedies. Some of the more hopeful—the most largely endowed with "inexorable fortitude"—still think it barely possible that the ballot box can yet be made to answer the purpose. They do not yet think it necessary to "fire upon the mob." They still think a merey loving people had better "bear for a time with oppression and outrage, rather than plunge the innocent as well as the guilty into the horrors of civil war" But even "inexorable fortitude" cannot brook the prospect, if the ballot box fail to come to time. The Democratic "intellect" can think of nothing beyond such a failure, but to employ Democratic hands with swords and pistols, too. If it be impossible to overthrow the Radicals except by force, then it is clearly the duty of the Democrat "to arm himself to resist the perjured traitors and robbers who compose the ruling powers of the land." In such a case, the Democratic oracle says, "we would be false traitors and cowards if we did not call upon every true man," even "as we would call upon fathers, husbands and brothers to rally for the protection of their homes, their wives, sisters and children from a threatened attack of hostile savages." Such, gentle and timid Radicals, is a faint specimen of bully Democratic bluster, as inspired by the recent action of Congress. Can't you see that it is time to stand from under?

One of our Democratic exchanges holds the following:

The poor wretch who presumes to create dissensions in the Democratic party, will sink so low in the depths of moral infamy that no political resurrection, can ever reach him. Such a creature would at once become an object of such contempt and indignation as to incur the yelping of dogs as he walked along the streets This, however, is more speculation No such individual belongs to the Democratic party, notwithstanding Christ was betrayed by Judas.

If some poor Democratic wretch should go into the "dissension" business in his party, wouldn't the result as above stated, be pretty rough on "the depths of moral infamy," the "dogs" and "Judas?"

The members of the Union party are very frequently called "destructives," by Democratic slang whangers. In a certain way, the Union people have been, and are, "destructives." They have destroyed slavery, a Democratic institution, they destroyed the rebellion, a Democratic measure; they destroyed the Confederacy, a Democratic structure; they have destroyed the foundations of Democracy, anti republican principles. The Democratic party destroyed itself. The Radical "destructives" propose to destroy all possibility of its resurrection.

The remarks and puffs of the newspapers on the Fourth of July exercises in their several neighborhoods, are rather amusing, in some respects. The orators, of course, all delivered "eloquent," "excellent," "interesting," "patriotic" addresses, "semi political," or "carefully excluding politics," etc. The ludicrous comes in when it is related that Rev. Mr. ——, offered up a "beautiful" or "an elegant," or "a splendid" or "a very interesting and instructive" prayer; or that Mr —— read the Declaration of Independence in "a very eloquent and patriotic manner."

The C[illegible]—What has become of the Dom[illegible] of the City Council? There ha[illegible] meeting since the 27th of June, for the [illegible] that no quorum could be found. Messrs. Ma[illegible] Besser, Burch and Mulkey, the [illegible] members attended regularly and adjourn, but the[illegible] gentlemen are invisible to mortal and expectant eyes at the Council chamber. Are they afraid that if they attend and make a quorum, somebody will be elected to some office to which somebody don't want somebody elected?

Death of Lieut. Rand.—The Vancouver Register has received information from Victoria, to the effect that Lieut. Wm. M. Rand, late of the Oregon Infantry Regiment, died at Victoria on the 3d inst., of an abscess of the brain, from which he had long been suffering. He had served the Government as a soldier, officer and clerk in the Paymaster's Department, and in all acquitted himself well and honorably. He had an extended circle of friends in Oregon who will mourn that he is thus cut off in his early manhood.

Several very distinguished Democrats in Congress and out of Congress, have denounced the execution of Maximilian, and some of them have expressed decidedly laudatory opinions of the Empire. One of them the other day, scolded our Government for not interfering to keep Maximilian on his stolen throne. This suggests the query, what has become of the Monroe doctrine which was one of the "ancient landmarks?" Are the landmarks getting so dim that the pilots of the Democratic flat-boat, can no longer find them?

Notwithstanding the occasion for righteous indignation there is in the fact that any one who ever made pretense of being loyal, should assist Jeff. Davis to his personal freedom, Horace Greeley's connection with the affair lends it something of a ludicrous aspect. To see the high-toned Southern gentleman, the pink of chivalry, snoopt with such alacrity, a Northern mudsill upon which to step from his prison into the open air of a country where every man is free, affords strong temptation to drown indignation in a laugh.

Growing.—The Yolo News says the "National Republican party" of California, has increased rapidly and is now said to contain members enough to fill the State offices, with several small weights to carry over. The Appeal, with biting sarcasm, advises the members of the new party to remain harmonious. There is, however, no danger on this point; there are not enough of them to divide and get up two new parties.

Unnecessary Trouble.—The dispatches say that the Cabinet was holding a meeting the other day to consider the reconstruction act. This was taking unnecessary trouble. If the Cabinet will only wait a few days, Congress will explain away all doubts that may exist in the minds of the Cabinet or any other man, as to what the reconstruction act means

It is stated that President Johnson walked in the streets of Washington, the other day, for the first time without a guard of soldiers. No guard for the President has ever been needed since the assassination of Lincoln. Johnson's kind were never assassinated. There is, however, one instance where one of his style went out and hanged himself.

"The French Government has very magnanimously purchased land for the burial of those who die during the Exposition," says a Paris letter. That seems to us a very practical, though excessively polite, way of welcoming people to hospitable graves.

Washington, July 11.—In the Senate the reconstruction bill was taken up

Mr Howe moved an amendment that the civil officers appointed by the district commanders may be removed by them or by the General commanding the army He said that unless this was adopted there might be doubtful power to remove men once appointed

The amendment was adopted

Mr Drake offered an additional section that no rebel State shall be entitled to representation in Congress, unless its constituted recital s a provision declaring that the State shall forever remain a member of the Union and that every citizen shall acknowledge paramount allegiance to the Federal Government that no law shall be passed by such State in contravention of the authority of the United States

Trumbull made a point of order under the resolution of Friday, that no subject shall be introduced not strictly pertaining to the reconstruction bill This was a new subject.

After some discussion the chair decided the amendment to be out of order.

Drake appealed from the decision and addressed the Senate in behalf of his amendment which was held to be in order. After a debate in which Pomeroy and Sumner participated the Senate sustained the decision of the chair Drake moved a suspension of the rules to enable him to introduce his amendment It was not agreed to Chicago, July 10 —The Brownsville Ranchero of the 4th inst, published the proceedings of the court-martial which tried Maximilian Maximilian was confined to his bedchamber when the case was called, but was ably defended by Pablo Ortega, who refuted the charge of cowardice, passion and cruelty. He said that the law of the 3d of October 1865 was made when Maximilian was cloistered into the belief that Juarez had abandoned the Territory. One of the articles of that law was dictated by the French commander The law was only intended as a terror, and there had never been a petition for pardon that was not granted Vasquez said that was not true, but about a coalition in Europe or the attitude of the United States, but feared that universal reproach would fall upon the country as an anathema.

New Orleans, July 11 —The Mexican Consuls says that Juarez and Cabinet left for the capital on the 1st of July and he would be received with great pomp as the deliverer of the country and the defender of the republic Emilia Lescure, once agent for Maximilian, and of the Tehuantepec Railroad grant notoriety, was the bearer of dispatches so often alluded to It is understood that he is still in the interest of the railroad schemes, and representing Marshal O Roberts of New York. Beauty.—Lord Byron observed, justly, that the best part of beauty is that which a picture cannot express Lord Shaftesbury asserts that all beauty is truth. True features make the beauty of the face and true proportions the beauty of architecture, as true measure the harmony and music. In poetry, which is all fable, truth is still the perfection. Fontanelle thus daintily compliments the sex when he compares women and clocks—the latter to serve to point out the hours, the former to make us forget them. There is a magic power in beauty, that all confess—a strange witchery that enchants us with a potency as irresistible as that of the magnet. It is to the moral world what gravitation is to the physical. It is easier to write about beauty in women, and its all pervading influence than to define what it is. Women are the poetry of the world, in the same sense as the stars are the poetry of heaven. Clear, light giving, harmonious, they are the terrestrial planets that rule the destinies of mankind.

RETIRED.—When you have read this, "ye" quondam "local" will have retired to the shades of private life, and with regret at parting with some valuable business acquaintances, and with gladness that we are relieved of the burden which was upon us, and that no more will we be forced to "shove our nose into other people's business," and then print the results of our observations. No more will we have to approach reticent possessors of valuable items and coax, and pump, and plead, and beg for the revelation of the valuable intelligence, which we, like a "common informer," told you through our column every morning. No longer will midnight catch us "down town," and no more will we tread the silent streets of Portland at the dead hour of night when grave yards yawn, and the music of our own heels make us nervous. We hope, however, to retain in our memory the kindness shown us by our acquaintances, those who appreciate the gigantic mountain of obstructions which forces itself in the way of every item gatherer—acquaintances, though perhaps made in a day, they shall not be forgotten for years. We yield the position which has been the cause of much pleasure and pain, for we to those upon whose "corns" we may have inadvertently "tread," and pain to ourself to think that we no longer remain in a field of usefulness, but will revert back to our profession, and as a consequence toil on in the rugged pathway of the young practitioner, and secure if possible of clients ill y able to bear the subtraction of even a dissolutive retainer. It is our intention to stay with you Portlanders, abide with you; your success shall be our joy, your adversity shall be ours also. The future greatness of this metropolitan city warrants us in coming to the conclusion that right here in your very midst is the point for us to stake our stake, and drive it in so deep that no silly notion of a moment shall be able to remove and transplant it elsewhere. To close this already too long "item," we ask those whom we may have offended to forgive us, as like asking others to forgive them. Not all the have we written in anger, revenge or hope of reward—to do our duty had been our constant aim, whether we have accomplished that, we leave others to judge. Although weak in body, we have been strong in determination, perseverance, industry and diligence, and by the application of energy to our business, we flatter ourself that we are entitled to credit for that much, at least BRAVE CHINAMAN.—Policeman O'Connor on Thursday evening last had quite an ex e in his night's experience. While lonely and bravely pursuing his avocation of protecting the property and lives of our citizens from the midnight hands of ruffians which might be intent on blood and booty, he was brought to a sudden stand still by a young man boarding at a very respectable residence in Couch's Addition, with the appeal to his duty, that he was wanted "very" immediately. Away the faithful officer went, occasionally slinging to the coat tail of his leader that he might keep in the vicinity, and soon he was wanted. At length the place sought was found, and in marched our police-officer to do battle for the right and send the foul enemy scattering o'er the plain. With drawn in battle order, his arms fully prepared, with his club in position, he advanced in line of battle to the very midst of the enemy. Immediately on the scene where he was to meet in single combat the midnight assailant, were five large, finely formed, stalwart and hopeful men (?) Our officer discovered behind a tree a Chinaman, armed with a large knife, with which he had broken open the front door of the house, and frightened nearly to death the lady of the establishment. For a policeman it was but a moment's work to secure the valiant Chinaman, who was as good as five Americans, and start him off about his business. The inmates of the house failed to make any charge against the Mongolian, owing to his previous connection with the family as a servant.

FIRE STRAIT.—On Chatham street, New York City, it is or was the practice for small traders to hail all and any who appeared as if in search of a place at which to trade. Of course high-minded, honorable merchants ought not to be forced to compete with such retail dealers of course, worth less than those paying a rent of legitimate ...ers for the same price. We frankly are not cursed with ...chants whose calibre will allow them to stoop to ...ham street manner of securing trade. One example, however, occurred on Front street yesterday, out of which an assault and re-assault grew. As has been practiced for some little time back, the runner for the house we have in our mind's eye, stopped a passer-by en route to a neighboring establishment, and endeavored to sell him all he considered the purchaser wanted to buy. The merchant feeling grieved by such an act, exclaimed with the manner, who before we acted, and ...ed words would forcible know—blows followed which ...duced no blood and no arrests." We hope hereafter not to be called upon to record any breaches of the peace, brought about by the endeavors of m...n to secure trade in an illegitimate manner.

REMARKS.—In our item yesterday regarding the action commenced upon the complaint of a "common informer," we made some remarks in regard to the testimony given by the complainant. We spoke of trials already concluded, and had no reference to the evidence he might given in future trials, or in the case disposed of yesterday, which we based on a close reading of his article. We ...d in error that many more cases were to contemplation by the informer Reed. We have ascertained from the United States officer that there is only four more complaints now made out, and whether service will be had ...n the defendants is the failure to publish. We are also authorized to say that if Reed has in contemplation any further ...ions against our citizens, it is not known to the ...r officers. As for seventy cases having been before the Grand Jury, that is mere nonsense, as such actions are commenced like any civil action—and they are civil actions for the recovery of a penalty—and as the law calls it, a qui tam action, by which a moiety goes to the informer.

PRODUCE.—The Senator yesterday brought down the following freights, to wit: 4 rolls leather.(!) Undoubtedly, never since navigation commenced on the Willamette has such an incident occurred. It is worthy of remark, not from anything ominous, but from the peculiarity of such a transaction. Perhaps the next boat from above will come loaded to her guards with the freight of the ...e valley in which we are located. Such trips are mere play-spells for Captain Sanghinan and his crew ...they seemed to enjoy it, as well as Mr. Winchell, freight clerk of the P. T. Co., at their wharf in this city, ...ing early, giving them a chance to catch their breath and prepare for the heavy labor which is sure to ...e such a plenitude of ...tion of their daily labors.

ARRIVAL.—This steamer arrived yesterday, as usual, all right from Monticello, with an assorted cargo of lumber, wool, etc. The lumber is for the school house in ...ict No. 1. While on board the Champoeg looking for "an item," we struck a gentleman, Mr. Dwyer, (didn't know him) who introduced us to a part of the ship which he commands, and in obedience to a general order we ...ed his resignation, supplied one third, cheered our cheerful ...y and came away declaring that we were better ...ed than local editors generally, and was not "sorry we had learned the trade."

CIRCUIT COURT—SKATTUCK, JUDGE.—The following are the proceedings of yesterday in this Court:

State vs. Antoine Henry Kersting; on motion of defendant's counsel and affidavits filed, this case was sent to Clackamas county for trial.

State vs. Darville Brown; most of the day was occupied in taking the testimony of witnesses. The case was argued and sent to the jury, and at the hour of closing our columns, no verdict had been rendered.

IN ARREST.—Yesterday, in the Snug Saloon on Morrison street, quite a row occurred between Wm. R. Hill, ("Buckskin Bill,") and James Miles, by which the latter suffered severely. We hear various reports in regard to the matter of the assault, one was that "Bill" punished his head with a pair of silk horses, with which he punished his adversary. On complaint for an assault he pleaded guilty and was fined $5, and costs.

HEAVY FIRM.—Speaking of heavy dealers, business firms, etc., we see that the proprietors of the Brooklyn Mills are about the heaviest business men in Oregon, as a whole firm. The three proprietors together aggregate 1,075 pounds. The first member of this firm, as to weight, pulls up 415 pounds, the second, 375 pounds, and the further weight, or lightest member weighs 285 pounds. Who wouldn't be a jolly miller.

"LOOMS UP."—The new bridge being built by the county on the Vancouver wagon road, opposite Couch's wharf, in East Portland, over the mouth of the slough, is looming up, decidedly like an improvement. The bridge built by piles being driven during high water by the pile driver. Several "bents" are completed, and it will not be long ere the covering is in its place if the same ...ed is made.

AUCTION SALE.—Those in of music, musical instruments, books, stationery and fancy goods, at Randall's last evening, went off lively, the attendance of bidders being very fair and the competition brisk. Mr. Kilbourne, auctioneer, will continue the sale this evening. The stock ...d comprises such a variety of desirable goods that the sale will be an attractive one.

U. S. DISTRICT COURT—DEADY, JUDGE.—In this court to-day, the trial of the action against A Meier, for ...ident stamps on twenty-eight boxes of matches, ...d the whole day. On the adjournment of the ...session the case had gone to the jury, and up to ...is hour had not agreed upon a verdict.

A RACE FOR THE CHAMPIONSHIP.—Over the Riverside track ...ings will be run a race for the championship between the ...ent horses, as follows: Flying Cloud, the Dayton ...ot horses, the Chief, Lady Jane and Long George. The ...ce will be a single dash of a mile. Undoubtedly an exciting time will be had

LATE LAWS.—Samuel E. May, Esq., Secretary of State, add, yesterday, lands amounting in the aggregate to $3,500 in coin of the realm. Some of these lands are very valuable, and many lucky purchasers have been made.

ARRIVAL.—By the return trip of the Ajax, Leo, Wells, Esq., will return to Portland, having regained his health. So we are informed by a friend of his who has lately received a letter from him.

STATE CASE.—In Justice Anderson's Court, to-day, will be tried a State case, entitled State of Oregon vs. Fuller; the assault and battery—jury trial. Stout for defendant, Hill for State.

ADMISSION TO CITIZENSHIP.—Jacob Kraus was yesterday admitted to citizenship in the United States District Court.

THE OLD PRINCIPLE.—Berman Brothers hold fast to that good old principle of selling cheap for cash Shaker Flannel Shirts and Drawers at $1 75; Merino Socks, 25 cents; Linen Bosoms, $2 to $2 50; Neck-Ties, 25 cents. Rubber Hats by next steamer.

VOLUNTEERS, ATTENTION!—The Pioneers are requested to be on the Base Ball grounds, for practice, this evening at half p five o'clock By order of competent authority,

GEORGE STEELE, Secretary.

GEORGE PEABODY'S WOOD SAWING FOR HIS LODGING.—The Concord (N. H.) Statesman corroborates the truth of the story that George Peabody sawed wood in that town to pay for his night's lodging and gives the following authority for its truth:

In the summer of 1855 Mr Peabody was here a day, the guest of Hon. Nathaniel G—— at whose dwelling was assembled a company of ladies and gentlemen to be presented to the distinguished banker. In the course of conversation Judge Perley inquired of Mr Peabody if he had been here prior to that day? His reply was "Yes; when 14 years of age I went alone upon a visit to connections in Thetford, Vt., passing through Concord. I staid over night at Stickney's tavern and sawed wood to pay for my night's lodging."

A FACT.—We know from personal knowledge, says the Appeal, that the following from the Folsom Telegraph is true:

It is not generally known, but we are informed that it is a fact, that during the greater part of the first year of the war, Geo. C. Gorham was the principal editor of the Sacramento Union. This accounts for the backbone the Union for the first time suddenly acquired, and the vigor and force its columns displayed during that eventful period. But the Union don't like Gorham, he is poor, talented and independent, but never subservient, and never will kneel to the gilded blockheads, the sons of Mammon.

A Dutchman's definition of the game of "Keno" now so fashionable: "Dat ish a leetle games vere all der fellers sets round mit der dables, and put puttons on der paste-board card mit figor on 'em, and don't say some dings already, and den by-and-by one feller he say 'Keno,' and den all dem udder fellers say 'Oh hell!'"

A Boston locksmith has furnished three hundred and forty duplicate keys to one club-room establishment, to checkmate the State Constables of that city in their efforts to enforce the Prohibitory Liquor Law.

Who were the first newspaper subscribers of whom we have any account? Cain, who took A Bell's Life, and Joshua, who ordered the Sun to be stopped.

A Mississippi paper says there is not enterprise enough in some of the towns of that State to roll a wheel-barrow down hill on a plank-road.

DR. WARREN ROWELL, of New York, a gentleman of extensive acquaintance with mechanics, and who has given special attention to the investigation of the art of sewing machines, says of the Grover & Baker Machine: "It is superior to other machines because it takes less time to learn how to run them; it takes a less skillful operator to learn to use them; it takes less muscular effort to do the same amount of work on them; the stitch is much easier managed, for the reason that the operator can easily change from light work to heavy work; that she can be making a thin light muslin garment, and then go right to work at a thick woolen garment; and the work, when done, is a great deal stronger than is done on any other machine." PERFECTLY REPREHENSIBLE.—Such were our feelings as we stepped into the Music and Art Gallery of W. T. SHARSWOOD, on First street, a few days since, and listened to the delightful tones and harmony which came from one of Mason & Hamlin's Cabinet Organs. From the soft breathing flute tones to the thundering bass of the pipe organ, all was equally free and sweet. And why is it other makers cannot produce instruments like these? Mason & Hamlin were the first to introduce the Cabinet Organ, and have gained such world-wide notoriety that it requires the work of two large factories to supply the demand for these valuable instruments.

A SOLEMNIZE INSTRUMENT.—We saw, yesterday, at J. L. Parrish & Co's something new in the way of an organ—a French instrument called the Organ Harmonium—invented by Alphonse Rodolphe. It is a very considerable modification of the old organ as we have them from the American manufacturers. It is provided with sixteen stops, each of which exercises a distinct and peculiar effect upon the tone. The bass stops are the Forte, Jeu Benx, (soft, sweet) Basson, Clarion, Bordon, English Horn: the treble stops are Expression, Tremolo, Scotch Bagpipe, Flute, Clarionette, Fife, Hautbois, Voix Celeste, Forte, and Knee or Full Expression. The rest of these stops in changing the tone is most surprising. For instance from the flute to Voix Celeste, with Full Expression, this tone changes from what sounds precisely like a soft flute, to the full grand harmony which we would expect from an Angel choir—what the name imports. The Key-Board is movable and can be adjusted to any key, to any instrument, or to the voice of any singer. Other changes are no less surprising. The instruments are of the most perfect workmanship and of the highest finish; have taken the first medals at all the great European Expositions. The prices range from $175, to $800. Persons in want of an instrument should call and see them, for it is impossible to get a correct idea of them, except from personal inspection. J. L. Parrish & Co., are sole agents for the Pacific coast.

In the pursuit of fortune at the mines, many persons are exposed to the attacks of complaints of the digestive organs, and of various kinds of fever. It is the very article that has so long been in demand at the mines. Its daily use will restore the tone of a deranged stomach, impart fresh vitality to the digestive functions, and clear the spirits. Yet the Bitters is the safest of all stimulants. CHOLERA.

MR. PERRY DAVIS:—The benefits I have received from the use of your invaluable remedy, the Pain Killer, induces me to you a word in its praise. Experience has convinced me that for Headache, Indigestion, Pain in the Stomach, or any other part of the system, severe Chills, Weariness, common Colds, Hoarseness, CHOLERA, CHOLERA MORBUS, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Toothache, etc, THERE IS NOTHING BETTER THAN THE PAIN KILLER. I have this day recovered from a severe attack of the Sick Headache, by using two teaspoonfuls, taken at thirty minutes interval, in a wine glass full of hot water. I am confident, through the blessing of God, it saved me from the cholera in the summer of 1843. Travelling amid new diet, hot, cold, change of diet, and constant exposure to an infected atmosphere, my system was daily predisposed to dysentery attacks, accompanied with pain, for which the Pain Killer was a sovereign remedy, one teaspoonful curing the worse case in an hour, or, at the most, half a day. I have heard of many cases of Dysentery being cured by its use. Put in the tooth, it will stop the toothache. Gratitude, and a desire for its general use, has drawn from me this unsolicited testimonial in its favor.

Chignons.

AIR—The Ivy Green

Oh, a shinky nest hath the Gregarine,
In many a chignon fair,
There snugly he hideth for combs never clean
The purchased and alien hair
He plays unmolested the frisettes amid,
Scarce seen by a mid-day moon,
There he gambols it will, being easily hid,
Like the fays on the moonlit green
Chorus—Creeping where 'tis not quite clean,
A parasite gay is the Gregarine!

He reveth timorous, this roamer gay,
Of a dainty dwelling in quest,
And on many a head will he couch on his way,
Ere he findeth a quiet nest
On the skull of a neat tho' wax cradled, may be,
In a foul-smelling Russian back slum
Whence brought to bedeck English beauty did he
With his host of relatives come!
Chorus—Creeping were 'tis rarely clean,
A parasite sleek is the Gregarine!

But, the lowly his birth, a free entrance gains
To the highest society here,
On the Queen of the Fashion, in Mayfair who reigns,
He dwells, where no foe need be fear.
Sung he sleeps in the chignon which, tho' it be false,
If sinless Beauty thinks proper to wear,
Till he's waked by the whirl of a gallop, or valse,
When he dances himself in mid hair
Chorus—Creeping where 'tis seldom clean,
A parasite is the Gregarine!

SCIENCE OF NEWSPAPER PUBLISHING.

The business of newspaper publishing in New York has been reduced, by long experience, to a science, and is now conducted on principles so well defined—all its nice details are so methodically arranged—the relations between publishers and employees are so clearly fixed that everything moves like clockwork, and, unless some special disturbing influences arises, the profits can be calculated in advance with as much accuracy as those of the merchant, the manufacturer or the farmer. Failure is unknown among the first-class journals of this city, well established, while the profits of all of them are respectable, and, of several, very large. It may be of interest to your readers to gain an insight into the workings and internal management of these immense establishments. The morning dailies issued here are the Herald, the Times, the Tribune, the World, the Journal of Commerce, and the Sun—all first class papers. The evening papers are the Express and the Commercial Advertiser. Besides these, there are three daily German papers, the Staats Zeitung, (the proprietors of which are said to have made half a million of dollars,) the Demokrat and the New York Journal. A new evening paper called the Gazette has recently been started, and an evening edition of Ben. Wood's Sunday News is now issued, price one cent. The two last, however, are yet but experiments; and as they do not publish the telegraphic news, when fresh, they are not likely to become formidable rivals of the Express and Post.

THE "TIMES" ESTABLISHMENT.

The offices of all the leading journals with one exception, are situated in, or very near Printing House Square—that is to say, in the three blocks immediately facing the City Hall Park, to the east. Each one of them is a perfect hive of activity. Let us observe the working of the bees within—even more industrious than the bees, however, for they never sleep. Night and day their labors go on. We will take the Times, Mr. Raymond's paper, as an example. It employs two managing editors at $60 per week each—five or six assistant editors who receive from $40 to $50 each, and about 23 regularly attached reporters, whose pay ranges according to their ability, between $15 and $30 per week, in currency. An experienced reporter who shows special aptitude for his business, obtains from $25 to $30, but the pay of a majority does not average over $20 per week. All the editors and best reporters are college-bred men, who take pride in sustaining the high tone of their establishment.

DISTRIBUTION AND DELIVERY DEPARTMENT.

The method of distributing the papers is a very important branch of the business. The carriers are on hand at 3 o'clock in the morning and buy of the the night man in charge of the business department, tickets for as many papers as they desire, ranging all the way from fifty to five hundred, always paying cash in advance. With these tickets they descend to the press room, where they receive the number their tickets call for, fold their paper themselves, and hurry off at the earliest possible moment to distribute them on their routes. Some carriers take 450, 475, and as high as 500 copies daily. They pay three cents a copy and deliver to subscribers for four cents, generally making their collections one a month—sometimes once in three months. They have no exclusive right, however, to sell within the limits of their district—no franchise or right of property in their routes. They hold their position entirely by sufferance of the proprietors, and may be discharged and others appointed in their place without being entitled to any damages or compensation for their removal. As this is a right, however, but seldom exercised by the publishers, and as the carriers' business is often very profitable, a route is sometimes sold for a handsome sum. One of the carriers on the Times is said to be worth $5[illegible], all made by close attention to business. He, like many others, serves two or three other morning papers and employs a number of deputies.

NO AMERICAN MONOPOLY.

The carrier, as I have said, has no exclusive rights in his district. His only advantage is in being recognized as the regular distributor of the paper, in securing such subscribers residing within his limits as leave their address at the office. Any volunteer can canvass for subscribers on his route, can obtain the papers on just the same terms as himself, and can obtain them without let or hindrance. This is done every day by the numerous news-stands that are established all over the city. You will find one of these stuck into some recess, or plastered against the face of the buildings, or ranged along the curb-stone, every three or four squares, in certain parts of the city. Any one of the proprietors who takes half dozen or more papers can buy them at 3 cents a copy, and if he chooses, can undersell the regular carrier, on his own route. It is only for his own convenience that he confines his sales to his stand. He may go around and deliver to his customers, if he pleases, and indeed some of them adopt this course. In the private hotel in which your correspondent is living, eight or ten papers are taken, all of which are supplied by the owner of the stand at the corner. This is because, having but few to distribute, he can generally deliver them in advance of the regular carrier to far up town.

THE MAMMOTH NEWS DEALERS.

The American News Company form a very important agency in the distribution of the leading papers. It takes daily, many thousands of copies at 3 cents a copy—the same rate at which the newsboy who takes but half a dozen can buy them. It wraps them up in bundles, labels and addresses them, and dispatches them by all the trains and steamers to the newsdealers throughout the country, and charges 3¼ cents per copy. Although the Company makes but one-fourth of a cent on each paper for its trouble, its funds is so immense that its profits during the year are measured by thousands. Thus, at one period of great excitement during the war, it took as high as 10,000 copies of a single issue of the Times. In addition to its other machinery for distribution, the Times has about 30 news agents located all over the country, who return from $15 to $500 a month.

THE PRESSROOM.

In the pressroom are employed a day and night Foreman, two engineers and about 20 feeders and wetters. The Foreman receives $30, the feeders $23 and the engineers $22 a week. It has two presses of great capacity—one a 10-inch and the other a 6-inch cylinder. The outside is put to press about 12 P. M., the inside at 3:20 A. M., and the edition is struck off before 6 A. M. Those carriers whose routes are most distant receive their papers first, so that Harlem, which is eight miles from the City Hall, is served by 04 A. M. The forms are stereotyped—two casts of each being taken, one for each press. The papers are never printed from the type. By this expedient, the necessity for setting the type twice is avoided—only half the material and half the room is required, and the type is saved from the wear and tear it would undergo in printing a large edition from it. The stereotyping is done under a contract for $142 a week—the same contractor doing similar work for all the leading morning journals. But for this process of stereotyping, the cost of composition would be increased some $1,000 a week.

COMPOSITION AND MAILING DEPARTMENT.

In the Composition-room, 45 or 50 regular compositors are employed. The best men, working at the top of their speed all through the week, earn from $31 to $33; but the average earnings of a fair compositor are from $20 to $25 a week.

In the mailing department six or seven folders are employed, the chief of whom receives $25, and the others from $18 down to $12 a week. The addresses used to be printed on a long slip and then cut off separately by a machine devised for the purpose, but it was found to work unsatisfactorily, and has been abandoned by all save a few of the weekly papers. The addresses of mail subscribers are now written upon the wrappers in advance, and thousands of copies are folded, posted and mailed in a few hours.

THE "TRIBUNE" ESTABLISHMENT.

The Tribune has an extensive establishment, and employs directly and indirectly many hundreds of men. Its editorial and reportorial staff numbers about 40 regularly employed, besides whom are many occasional reporters and contributors and a very numerous corps of correspondents. Its managing editor is said to receive $100 per week, the highest compensation paid for this service. The assistant editors of the Tribune are paid from $20 up to $50 per week, only first class scholars and able writers receiving the highest rate. Reporters get from $18 up to $26, shorthand reporters receive more. The arrangements for the distribution of the paper are almost exactly the same as described for the Times. The carriers pay 3 cents a copy and deliver to subscribers at 4 cents, but any proprietor of a news stand can buy on the same terms, and sell within the limits of their routes. The carrier business has been so much broken up of late years by these corner stands, that many of the carriers now serve three or four different journals. Thus the carrier in the 12th Ward takes all the morning papers, and makes his rounds with a team. David Roe, for 15 years in charge of the distributing department, has just been elected President of the American News Company.

The Tribune has two first class presses, one a 10 and the other 6 cylinder, and it is now having a third built with 8 cylinders. It employs 12 men in the press room, including a foreman, engineers and feeders, of whom 18 are on duty during the day and 22 at night. Its forms are stereotyped, and the outside goes to press a little after 11 P. M.; the inside at 3½ A. M.

COST OF MAKING UP A NEWSPAPER.

Some idea of the enormous cost of publishing a first-class journal in New York may be obtained from an examination of the Tribune's business for two years past. In 1865 its receipts from subscriptions, sales and advertising were $816,537 its expenditures, $616,107, profits, $170,140. In 1866 the receipts were $999,417, expenses, $835,158; profits $24,259. The items of this enormous expenditure in 1866 are interesting. For printing paper the amount paid was $418,199, for press men, repairing presses, etc., $16,398, ink, $9,027, compositors, $88,000; editorial department, $81,775, correspondence, $49,300; telegraphic news, $58,770; harbor news, $2,112, publishing office, salaries, etc., etc., $22,841, advertising, $17,219, mailing, counting and packing paper, $15,000, postage, $11 963, printing and stationary, $6,198; libel suits, $876, U S taxes on advertising receipts, $10,082, gas light, $5,862; expense account, including plumbing, carpenter work, etc., $18,810; sundry donations, $2,250; glue and molasses for rollers, $643. In not this an extraordinary showing? The Tribune puts nothing to the account of rent, as it owns its building. Had it been compelled to pay rent it would have saved literally nothing out of its enormous receipts of $999,417 during the year. The proprietors state that their aggregate circulation increased 41,000 copies—including, of course, the tri-weekly and weekly—during the year; and that during the election campaign the transient increase reached over 56,000.

THE "SUN" WHICH "SHINES FOR ALL."

The proprietors of the Sun value their paper at $500,000, and assert that they can show dividends on that estimate. They employ a staff of ten editors, who are paid from $25 to $35 a week; five or six regular reporters, and about thirty compositors. They have three presses—two of Bullock's and one 8-sylender of Hoe's, capable of striking off 15,000 copies an hour. They go to press about 2½ A. M. The price of a single copy of the Sun is 2 cents. The carriers buy their tickets at the rate of 1 1-3 cents per copy, and deliver to subscribers at 2 cents. Unlike all the other papers except the Evening Post, the Sun carriers own routes. They bought them of the proprietors many years ago, and paid a handsome sum for their privilege. The same is true of the Evening Post. But on neither of these papers have they exclusive privileges. The newsdealers can buy the Sun on precisely the same terms as the carriers, and sell at their stands in any part of the city. One or two of the Sun's routes are very large, requiring as high as 2,000 copies. The American News Company takes about 5,000 copies of this paper every day.

This letter has already extended so far that I must defer a notice of the other three first class morning papers—the Herald, the World and the Journal of Commerce—to a future occasion. The details here set forth will give your readers a pretty clear insight into the management and working of a great metropolitan journal, and the enormous expense of publication will show how almost hopeless it is for new competitors to attempt to enter the field against the half dozen old established newspapers. Some of them are making fortunes all of them, I believe, are prosperous. ARGUS.

How Free Trade Operates.

The men who talk so flippantly about free trade—about buying "where you can buy the cheapest," and the rest of that sort of nonsense, in the interest of foreign traders, hope to delude the laborer, mechanic and farmer into their belief. And they choose the present time to accomplish their purpose because prices are higher than formerly, and they imagine that last constitutes a good basis for their platitudes and fallacies.

If they are weak enough to listen credulously to these wolves in sheep's clothing, who are seeking to delude and betray the laborers, mechanics and farm producers of the North, we must refer them to the South for a sufficient refutation. Our patriotic Southern brethren—the ruling class at least and the rest of necessity, were always your pattern free traders. They not only preached the doctrine but practised the precepts. They drove their unfortunate slaves afield, day by day, and produced cotton—King Cotton, they called it. Whatever else they needed they made a rule of buying "where they could buy the cheapest," and they would not buy of the abominable Yankee if by any means they could avoid it. And they persisted in their practice for many years, and were determined to continue the policy.

What was the result? Did they, the people of the South, prosper? Was the demand for labor great? Were wages high? Did various industries grow up and flourish? Did general morals, culture and intelligence improve, and the whole people prosper?

Within the last six years a large number of our Northern laborers, farmers and mechanics have visited the South, and have had ample time to note the condition of the mass of its people. These need no information as to what they are, how they live, or the measure of their prosperity and intelligence. What they have seen and heard and experienced in these regions, forsaken of industry and given over to idleness and wretchedness, they know and believe.

But what caused all this squalid poverty and ignorance, in a country rich in natural inducements to labor and always exuberant in rewarding it? Whatever may have been the primary, original cause, the immediate one was simply the want of home industries. There was no variety of employment, no manufactures, no development of the sources of wealth to be found in its forests and mines, its water power and local productions. They did not even attempt to manufacture the cotton they called King, nor to refine the sugar which was their monopolies. The inevitable result of this absence of various industries, is to be found in the deplorable poverty of a great portion of the people. They are individually poor because they have had nothing to do. Capital there all took one direction. It bought slaves and made cotton. It gave no one else employment. It crowded the poor into the mountains and inaccessible regions. It offered them no wages. It would not buy their products if any were for sale. It had no want but for negroes, no employment other than the cotton field. Capital bought where they could buy cheapest! Poverty went to the wall, and day by day sunk deeper and deeper into profound degradation. That is what free trade did for the South. Is this example so pleasant that we should follow it?—Burlington Hawkeye.

POLITICS IN OHIO.—A dispatch to the Chicago Tribune, from Cincinnati, May 28th, says:

Politics in this State may be quoted dull and nominal at present. The party papers are talking about the next election and the issues involved, just enough to keep their hand in and their readers from falling asleep. The main question to be settled this fall is an enlargement of the suffrage. An amendment of the State Constitution will be submitted to the popular vote for ratification, to make suffrage by extending it to colored citizens who are unjustly disfranchised at present. White men and mulattoes can vote, but blacks are unjustly deprived of that right. A man who has a shade more of European than African blood in his veins is a voter, while a man who has a shade more African than European blood in him is excluded from the polls, although he is obliged to pay tolls, bear arms, obey and support the laws just the same as the enfranchised classes. The Republican papers are all advocating equal suffrage, but the Democratic press are opposing it, though not very bitterly as yet. Nearly's appeal to them, not to embarrass the Democratic party in the South, who are courting the colored vote, may induce them to forego their hostility to equal rights. The clause of the amendment which disfranchises deserters meets more opposition from the Democratic press than the clause enfranchising the blacks. In other words, their love for deserters exceed their hatred of the negroes. Some of the leading politicians are beginning to talk about Presidential candidates for the next election. The favorite ticket is Grant for President and Wade for Vice President. To the objection that both candidates are Western men, it is replied that Ohio is no longer a Western, but is now a central State, and that such a ticket would unite every shade of Republicanism in its support, and could not be defeated by any combination of Copperheads, Conservatives and reconstructed rebels. It is further more agreed that the Vice President, the next time, must be a man who can be trusted, as the Republican party cannot afford to be again [illegible]ized. It is asserted that General Grant will be a candidate for the next Presidency, and that there is no man whom he would prefer to have on the same ticket with himself than the stern old Ben. Wade, now acting Vice President. Such is the undercurrent talk among leading Ohio politicians at the present time.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE

WEEKLY REVIEW

PORTLAND, FRIDAY, 2 P M, July 12, 1867

Money Market—In New York on the 10th gold closed at 138¾, and on the 11th at 139½. Legal Tenders in San Francisco are quoted at 73¼ buying and 73½ selling.

Trade for the past few days shows a little more activity in certain branches, and some kinds of produce, are more inquired for at rates in advance of former quotations. Valley merchants are making extensive purchases with the hope of a prosperous season.

Cotton and Woolen Goods—The Woolen Mills of this State have made a general reduction on all their goods, bringing their prices fully within imported goods. We have seen cassimere flannels and cloths, which in style and texture compare favorably with Eastern and California manufactured goods, and we think the day near at hand when Oregon Woolen goods will extensively supply the home market, and even compete for exhibition in other localities on the Pacific coast. We note a further reduction in prices of staple cottons. These goods have been gradually decreasing the past year, and are now nearly as low as they were before the war, taking the additional cost of raw material, labor and taxes into consideration. It is generally believed they cannot go much lower for some time to come, as they have reached a price hardly remunerative to the manufacturer. Stocks are light, and it being between seasons, disposition is felt by all classes of merchants to buy only goods which must be had until the opening of the fall season. With a combination of direct importations from the east, and a disposition of wholesale merchants to confine them more fully to one line of goods, we are confident that Portland can retain much desirable trade at home, increasing its value as a commercial emporium, and benefitting no less the State at large. We learn of two failures in the mining regions involving some sixty thousand dollars due our merchants here.

Flour—The flour market is unchanged. The quantity being pushed on the market has materially decreased. Undoubtedly the supply has greatly diminished in consequence of the great amount exported. We quote same as last week. The latest quotation from California are up to the figures we quoted of a week ago. The Fallusburg takes a small cargo. The Ajax took almost a full cargo, and the Oriflamme, to depart in a few days, will be called upon to transport a large quantity.

Bacon—Bacon has advanced 1 cent ₱ lb, and is in demand at this quotation.

Hams—There is more in market at the present writing than a week ago, and are much inquired for at the present quotation.

Dried Apples—Dried apples are scarce, and the demand is such that this article could be sold at a decided advance. With this advancement holders should at once dispose of their stock. Farmers would do well to at once attend to the sale of their surplus stock.

Sugars—This article is yet in limited supply, and prices advancing. Should the Oriflamme fail in bringing a cargo of sugars, our quotations should be advanced slightly.

Hardware—There are no changes in the hardware market, except some minor articles. Shot has dropped a figure. The trade is quiet.

Lard—This commodity is quiet—very little demand at prices quoted.

Salmon—Market is well supplied at rates quoted.

Woolens—The market for manufactured woolens is much depressed, as instanced by the shutting down of the manufactory at Oregon City. There is some reduction in our quotations of Oregon blankets.

The following can be relied upon as an entirely correct schedule of freights from Umatilla to the different points mentioned:

To Boise City, ox teams, (in dust)		4 cents.
" " " mule teams, "		5 "
To Idaho City, ox teams, "		6 "
" " " mule teams "		7 "
" " " trains, "		7½ "
Payable in dust at $16 per oz.
To Fort d'Orville and Colville, ox teams		3½ "
" " mule teams		4 "
To Helena, Montana Ter., trains, (in dust)		14@16 "

Freighting extremely dull.
